Q & A:

Question: Can I fill out a bracket for the NCAA Basketball Tournament, if there is no entry fee required and no opportunity to win anything?

Answer: While the answer is yes, we urge you to be careful. As discussed in our mandatory student-athlete meeting this month, it is very important that you keep your name off a bracket, if you choose to fill one out just for fun. If someone were to get a hold of your bracket, with your name on it, you could end up being found to have provided information about a team for the purpose of gambling.

Best practice: Just don't fill one out. You're a student-athlete for 5 years. Restraining yourself in those 5 years from filling out a bracket, even if it is "just for fun" will assure your avoidance in any potential sports wagering involvement.

The Michael Franzese Story

Michael Franzese was once the target of multiple City, State, and Federal law enforcement agencies with one goal—bring down the man they considered one of the biggest money earners for organized crime since Al Capone.

Follow this link to view compelling videos of legendary Mobster, Michael Franzese, as he tells of his experience dealing with the mafia and sports wagering:
